Your home is considered a personal residence and is covered by the renter's policy of your landlord. If a renter's insurance policy does not cover your home, your belongings are typically protected anywhere in the world under a renter's policy. If you have an uninsured residence, your policy from us may have coverage limited to 10 percent. Many of our policies for an apartment include some coverage for improvements. High-value items, such as guns, furs, art, antiques, money, and jewelry, have coverage limits that you should discuss with us to ensure you get something that fits your needs. Our coverage is usually issued for "named perils" such as fire, theft, or falling objects. While we are based in Florida, Sanford Insurance Center Inc is the largest insurance agency in Sanford.
